De Oro at the meeting of the pair yesterday agreed to give Greenleaf five points in every punching bag in front of him—one that rebounded so often as to make Jackson look like a dub himself. Jackson hit Hanlon with everything, but couldn't check him. Rights and lefts, uppercuts, body wallops, everything Jackson delivered bounced off Hanlon harmlessly. At times Hanlon threw in punches at Willie which didn't look any too good to those sitting back from the ring side.

Jackson evidently hasn't the same old sting in his right hand. Either that or Hanlon isn't human. Jackson got the decision, but Hanlon teemed to think he was entitled to it. He cried bitterly when Joe Humphries announced the verdict.
